

OSPI Attribution and Open License Language

Prior to applying an open license to your work, make sure that it is either original work created by OSPI staff or contractors or you have written permission to include any external material. Remember to properly attribute all resources in your document that are not original work by OSPI.

Additional Guidance Language (optional)

Include whichever combination of statements below that are applicable to the work:

- This work has been created in partnership with ... We express our gratitude to all the contributors to this effort. Without their support and expertise, this resource would not be possible.
- Funding provided by...
- Please be aware that any adaptations should be considered carefully so as not to impact this thoughtfully crafted content design.

- Alternate material licenses with different levels of user permission are clearly indicated next to the specific content in the materials.
- If this work is adapted, note the substantive changes and re-title, removing any Washington Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction or {ProjectName} logos. Provide the following attribution:
This resource was adapted from original materials provided by the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction. Original materials may be accessed {HyperlinkToOriginalWork}.
- We ask that you apply an open license to any derivative work, with the least restrictive open license possible that is not in conflict with existing licenses. This will allow the public to realize the educational impact from the substantial investments the state, the federal government, and private foundations have made in educational resources.
- This resource may contain links to websites operated by third parties. These links are provided for your convenience only and do not constitute or imply any endorsement or monitoring by OSPI. Please confirm the license status of any third-party resources and understand their terms of use before reusing them.
